The Duty of the Hour.

The GAZETTE has sent out a circular letter to the banker, baker and candle-stick maker asking them what, in their judgment, would be the most beneficial law for the incoming Legislature to pass. The object is to see how much thought the people have given the subject of retrenchment and reform, and, if possible, to aid the members in the passage of such laws as seem most desirable to the people. We think that first the Legislature should carefully consider the premises, and, after canvassing the vote on the Constitutional question, if it is found that a majority voted for a Convention, they should obey the mandate of the people and proceed to call a Convention, fixing the per diem and naming a time and place for holding the same, and provide for a special election to be held to submit the work to the voters as soon as possible after the document has been prepared. If, on the other hand, they find, after canvassing the vote, that a majority of the votes did not call for a Convention, then they should go to work with an honest intent to relieve the people of the unjust burden of taxation now weighing them down.

We want our present laws so modified that they will invite capital to our State instead of driving it out. We want some legislation on the irrigation question that will assist in State development, but, as the State is not able to go into its own reclamation without aid from the outside, perhaps a general law dividing the State into reclamation districts and providing for surveys to be made, will be all that can be reasonably asked. We are, vulgarly speaking, "in a hole" and must do something for ourselves or crawl in and pull the hole after us, and the sooner every man, woman and child within our borders realize this the better off we shall all be.

GOVERNOR WATERMAN in his second biennial message to the California Legislature, read this lecture to the members, which some of our own law-makers will do well to read with care: "With all due respect to your honorable bodies, I am in duty bound to direct your attention to the wasteful extravagance of Legislatures in the past in the appointment of attachés to their respective Houses. The statute provides for the employment of clerical assistance in order to carry on the details of the business of the session—for the Senate there being a provision for the employment of sixteen; and in the Assembly, nineteen. The last Legislature employed a force of no less than two hundred and twenty-eight, thirty-five being provided by statute, and one hundred and ninety-three by resolution passed in the respective Houses. At the opening of the session I consulted with prominent members of both Houses, to see if some remedy could not be adopted whereby a check might be applied, in order to put a stop to such extravagance.

I was promised there should be a reduction in that particular, but those who were the most earnest in coinciding with my views, after the interview were equally earnest in adding to the list of employees to which this bears reference.

NEWS comes from Elko that eight hundred big, lazy Indian bucks are dancing the ghost dance within a rifle shot of Deeth, and that they are impudent to the settlers. The Bannocks have put in an appearance, and with the Piutes make quite a formidable foe should they see fit to make trouble. The Piutes have a reservation provided for them in the State, and they have no cause of complaint, for they are well provided with all the comforts of life on the reservation. If the lazy devils would exercise themselves sawing wood as much as they do in dancing, they would be well-to-do. The citizens of Elko should be prepared to resent the first insult the Indians offer, and annihilate the whole tribe. It is simply disgusting to see with what fortitude the War Department puts up with their insolence. A rifle full of cold lead is pretty good medicine for an Indian when he goes on the war path.

ISLANDS OF THE SEA.

HELIGOLAND, through its incorporation with the German Empire, has been made part of Prussia.

The one part of the world in which no native pipes, and no native smokers have been found is Australia.

The cultivation of indigo is becoming so extensive in Japan that the Government has passed a law regulating it.

There are to-day in Australia 4,000 more Chinese than nine years ago. There are over 40,000 Chinese in Australia and 47,000 in Tasmania and New Zealand; a rather large pigtail population, considering the size of the islands.

The Australian rabbit pest does not lessen, although immense numbers of the prolific rodent are killed daily. As many as 15,000,000 rabbit skins have been exported from New South Wales in one year, and the number, instead of diminishing, is said to be increasing by leaps and bounds.

From a paper read before the biological section of the British Association by Prof. Newton, it appears that the native fauna of the Sandwich Islands is now undergoing modification and is in danger of extermination on account of the changes which are taking place in the vegetation of the islands.

The English and Germans are mixing up the nomenclature of New Guinea and the surrounding islands in a most hopeless fashion. The Germans have renamed many islands east of New Guinea, which since their discovery years ago had borne names given to them by the Englishmen who found them.

The most exquisite embroidery is that which comes from Fayal, in the Azores islands. It is done on a fine quality of shirting linen. After the requisite number of threads are drawn, the remaining are woven by the needlewoman into a square, meshed ground, on which the pattern of leaf, flower or vine is skillfully and daintily darned.

The supply of camphor to the island of Formosa has decreased to an alarming extent. The Chinese Government, which has had a monopoly of the trade, has taken no pains to replace the trees cut down with fresh ones, and its very large income from the industry has suffered by seventy-five per cent.

DON'T SEEM POSSIBLE.

A PITTSBURGH youth has been arrested for stabbing a piano from his mother.

A CANARY has learned to articulate "Sweet pretty boy," the constantly repeated address of its mistress.

Good mentions the case of a gentleman who, in his sleep, composed an ode of six stanzas and set it to music.

On the North Western Kansas it snowed one day, rained the next, and on the third day the thermometer marked 80 degrees.

A FARMER at Riverside, Cal., has taken eight crops of alfalfa from one field this season. It is worth seventeen dollars per ton.

THERE are five women and one man living at 102 Amherst street, Toronto, who sleep every night in their respective coffins.

It is estimated that to collect one pound of honey from clover, 62,000 heads of clover must be deprived of nectar, and 3,750,000 visits from bees must be made.

AMONG the bootblacks of Washington is a colored man who has lost his right arm and right leg, but single-handed polishes boots with neatness and dispatch, and he has a good stand and a fair run of trade.

It is estimated that more than a million cattle and other animals died last winter in the extreme Western and Southern States and Territories of neglect and starvation, and probably hundreds of thousands were frozen to death.

A ST. PETERSBURG daily reports that one of the students in the University of Kharkov is a living anatomical curiosity. He has his heart on the right side of his breast, his liver under the left ribs, the spleen on the right side, and the right lung is longer than the left.

CHIMPANZEEs have often been taught to wait on table and sweep out rooms. They respond better for training purposes to gentle treatment than to severity, and much can be done with them easily by permitting them to go hungry for awhile and then giving or withholding the fruit.

PEOPLE WHO WRITE

JULES VERNE is the author of twenty-four novels.

WILLIAM BLACK, the English novelist, likes Americans very much and has hosts of friends among them.

GENERAL BUTLER's autobiography is rapidly approaching completion, and may be expected in book form within eight or ten months.

TSHENG-KI-TONG, the Chinese General, has published in French a book that is said to be an imitation of the modern French novel.

BISMARCK's autobiography will appear early next year, and it will be printed in Paris to avoid any restrictions by the German Government.

SIR RICHARD BURTON had one strange peculiarity—he would never permit the blinds to be drawn at night in the room in which he was seated at study.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE stands six feet high, is broad shouldered and looks like a short-haired, modernized edition of his father, who wrote "The Scarlet Letter."

FRANK H. CUSHING, the writer upon the Zuni Indians, is under medical treatment at a private dispensary in Buffalo. His ailments were brought on by his life in Arizona.

OWING to his physician's advice, James Russell Lowell has cancelled an engagement to deliver six lectures on the old English dramatists at the University of Pennsylvania.

MR. BANCROFT goes out for a walk almost daily in Washington, but he has a muscular valet with him all the time. His snow-white hair is partly hid beneath a black silk cap, the visor of which shades his eyes from the sun. His overcoat is buttoned closely around his spare form and his beard shelters his throat from the wind.

A SIMPLE and effectual remedy for ivy poisoning is said to be sweet spirits of nitre. Bathe affected parts two or three times during the day and the next morning little trace of the poison will remain.

HIS QUEER PATIENT.

A Physician Relates His Singular Experience with a Woman of Fashion.

"My funniest patient?" said the doctor. "Well, that question is something of a facer. You newspaper fellows do ask the queerest questions."

"Tell me, Doc," urged the scribe, "about the most singular patient you have ever had, as the case may be."

"I see," said the doctor, thoughtfully, "you are bound to stick to me like a vampire until I tell you something, so here goes. A certain woman who lives on West Fifty-seventh street has a mania for everything extraordinary. She is what you would call a beautiful woman, but I don't believe she has even an apology for a soul. Whether her husband realizes the latter fact I do not pretend to say, and if he does he has too much pride to confess it to the world. Well, this woman came to me one morning with a little vial and requested me to inject some of its contents in both of her arms and neck. Of course I inquired what the liquid might be. She answered:

"That's all right; I will give you fifty dollars if you will do it."

"But, madam, I protested. 'I am not in the habit of injecting unknown fluids into the human system.'

"Oh, I know what it is," said the woman. "I am not in the system, but I want it administered under the skin."

"I looked at her a moment and wondered, though she did not look like one, if she was a morphine fiend. She seemed to divine my semi-suspicion and said: 'No, I'm not kind of morphine. Smell of it.'

"She held the little vial in her own hand to my nostrils, which inhaled a potent fragrance in which rose oil was represented. 'You see,' she explained, 'I have a friend who has just returned from Paris where she has seen this thing successfully done. Come here, it's a fifty-dollar note. Do you refuse?'

"Now, you as a newspaper man know the value of fifty dollars and so do I. It seemed wise for me to say 'No,' but I secured the necessary instrument and told her I would comply with her request at her own peril. 'All right,' she answered, and in five minutes I had completed my novel task. She had an idea, you know, that her arms and neck would exhale a delicious perfume and she went away as happy as a two-days-old butterfly."

"In about a week she came back and wanted me to inject some more of the potent essence in her arms and neck. On her right arm I noticed an inflamed spot just where the previous injection had been made, and I told her that it looked as if an abscess was forming there."

"Never mind," she said, "I want to find out if there is anything in it."

"Then I firmly declined to pursue the experiment. She departed in a state of wrath, and I have not seen her from that day to this. She was my funniest patient."

J. F. Aitken supplies wood and coal in large or small quantities, and delivers orders promptly. If you can't find him, leave orders at Marcus Fredrick's.

Gratifying to All.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excellent laxative known, will give the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the Cal. Fig Syrup Company.

Gave Them a Thorough Trial.

Hon. E. A. Moore, Member of Assembly, Richmond county, N. Y., writes:

"I have two afflictions which sometimes make life a burden. One is dyspepsia, the other rheumatism. I heard of Brandreth's Pills, taken one or two at night on an empty stomach, would cure rheumatic pains. I gave them a thorough trial for three weeks, taking one or two every night. To my delight, not only was I cured of rheumatism, but dyspepsia, costiveness and biliousness. They did not interfere with my diet or business, and I really think them an incomparable blood purifier and cathartic.

"Is that the best?" Is the question often asked, when medicine is wanted. The following are a few of the medicines of known reliability, sold by Shoemaker & Co., druggist of this place. They have many other excellent medicines, but these are worthy of especial mention:

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of severe colds, and as a preventative for croup. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm, a general family liniment and especially valuable for rheumatism. Price 50 cents per bottle.

Chamberlain's Cotic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy, the most reliable known medicine for bowel complaints. It is especially prized by persons subject to colic. It has cured many cases of chronic diarrhea. Price 25 and 50 cents per bottle.

St. Patrick's Pills, or disorders of the liver and bowels a vigorous but gentle physic that cleanses and renovates the whole system. Price 25 cents per box.

Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. For tender, salt rheum, scalid-head, eczema and chronic sore eyes. Price 25 cents.

The New Discovery.

You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is, that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. If you have never used it and should be afflicted with a cough, cold, or chest, bring on or chest trouble, seek a bottle out and take it a fair trial. It is guaranteed every time or money refunded. Trial bottle free at Wm. F. Pinner's drug store.

The question has been asked. "In what respect are St. Patrick's Pills better than any other?" Try them. You will find that they produce a pleasanter cathartic effect, are more certain in their action, and that they not only physic but cleanse the whole system and regulate the liver and bowels. For sale at 25 cents per box by Shoemaker & Co.

The First Step.

Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you don't know what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into Nervous Prostration. You need a nerve tonic, and in Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this great nerve tonic and alterative. Your appetite's returns, good digestion is restored and the Liver and Kidneys resume healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 25 cents at Wm. F. Pinner's Drug Store.

A Progressive Merchant.

A. Nelson is progressive. He has recently laid in a very extensive stock of choice cutlery, consisting of knives of all kinds and dimensions, which he is selling at remarkably low prices. He also runs a free intelligence office, and gets most anybody a job who applies. Give him a call.

An Old Friend.

That has been annoying the community for generations, has at last been happily settled. Cephaline, the greatest headache remedy is in, and trouble ceased. Your druggist has it.

WADSWORTH SOCIETY.

A Grand Masquerade Ball Given by the Ladies.

A Brilliant Affair Largely Attended and Highly Enjoyed by All.

WADSWORTH, Jan. 11. EDITOR GAZETTE: On Friday evening last occurred the masque carnival which the people of our little village had in anticipation for a month. At a very early hour strange forms could be seen flitting hither and thither, cutting corners and bisecting byways leading towards a common meeting point in the plaza, where stands the library rooms. At 9 o'clock the conglomeration of princes and paupers, angels and imps, saints and sinners, kings and queens, knights and ladies, good and evil, pride and poverty, beggars and bums, drunks and bummers, gad-a-bouts and hotel runners, clowns and cripples, and the other nine and ninety representations of the vice and virtue of the universe, single-filed it to Music Hall to hold forth in an all nights high jinks. The hall was a green bower of nodding flowers and creeping ferns encasing curtains of blue, yellow and red, and, square to a single golden banner bearing the Tahitian word of greeting "aloha." The simple word beautiful strength alone will do justice to the decorations, symbolic as they were of the highest principles known to humanity. Master hands at management, with minds of cultured taste, made the room appear a fit abiding place for beauty.

With six score maskers on the floor, a majority of whom wore richer costumes than we have ever seen at such a gathering, moving in common measure to strains of sweetest music, a sky of crystal lamps and a horizon of primary colors, a human kaleidoscope was made which beggars description. In decorating the hall to produce the effect it did, Mesdames K. L. Fuller, C. W. Curtis, A. T. Clippinger and W. W. Geery, and Miss Gertie Watson had as compensation many compliments from the spectators. The supper at Pythian castle was gotten up and arranged by our queen of housewives, Mrs. T. Fellnagle, assisted by Mrs. P. Walch, Mrs. C. Nelson and the Misses Jennie Lundy, Gertie Watson, Annie Blundell, Amy Blundell, Ned McPherson, Luelia Gregory, together with Grandma LeClair and Auntie McPherson. It is needful to say it was par excellence. The center piece of the supper table was a miniature duplicate Union Church, supported by banks of myrtle, smilax and roses.

The music of Prof. Barlow's orchestra of six, as furnished here, was deserving of the praise it received. The railroad boys say it is the best in the State.

In all the ball was a grand success in every particular. The managers of the affair, Mrs. J. H. Whited, assisted by Miss Joe Fellnagle, are deserving of and have our hearty congratulations for the following: They gave us, undeniably, the grandest ball in every respect we have ever had in Wadsworth. They have cleared over $300, an amount which nearly wiped out the church debt.

The solicitude and forethought for the comfort of guests, who unite in saying that nothing in arrangement or management was overlooked.
